

Valleys to Coast have engaged Dramanon for a number of key training projects in the last 2 years. Firstly, we commissioned them from several suppliers to deliver in house diversity training for all staff (approximately 200) and this was delivered in 3 sessions per week over a whole month. We have subsequently brought Dramanon back to deliver refresher training on Diversity to capture all new starters.

From the first moment we invited Dramanon to put together a proposal for this training they were able to accurately interpret our requirements and firmly delivered on all promises made. They have always been flexible when liaising with us in the development of the course and we really felt that they ensured that the course was relevant to our business needs, style and culture.

The media of using actors has proved to be exceptionally powerful and Dramanon's actors and facilitators have always been engaging and highly professional whilst being able to relate to all levels and types of staff. This training has made a huge impression on our staff, and was talked about for a while and I believe that the key messages have had a much deeper impact by using this medium.

The follow up service we have had from Dramanon has always been excellent and we have also engaged them for Senior Management Development training. I would thoroughly recommend them to any company as I feel they could not disappoint.
